The causes of resegregation

- Housing and mortgage lending discrimination
- Exclusionary zoning
- Racially biased school-boundary decisions
- Disproportionate placement of government-subsidized affordable housing in segregated and unstably integrated neighborhoods
- Prejudice and preferences

Policy Recommendations

- Develop and support different types of CDC, tailored for different kinds of neighborhoods
- CDC's in non-white segregated-high poverty neighborhoods should advocate and support
 - Stably integrated magnet schools
 - Increased funding to traditional schools for tutoring, after-school and other programs
 - Better transit linking neighborhoods to growing job centers
 - High-density mixed use TOD
 - Reinvestment in public infrastructure
 - Intensive job development and skills training programs
 - Financial support for home maintenance and home ownership

Policy Recommendations

- CDC's in diverse, racially integrated neighborhoods should advocate and support stable integration organizations comprised of local officials from schools, municipalities, neighborhood organizations and other local stakeholders to
 - Develop and promote pro-integrative mortgage, home loan and insurance programs
 - Document segregative housing practices
 - Develop and operate pro-integrative marketing plans

Policy Recommendations

- CDC's in low-poverty, high opportunity (often predominantly white) neighborhoods
 - Should advocate, support, and (if necessary) litigate the reduction of barriers to affordable housing in local zoning codes, building practices, and development codes
 - Advocate for regional fair share housing strategies that promote affordable housing in these areas
 - Finance, promote and manage affordable housing ventures

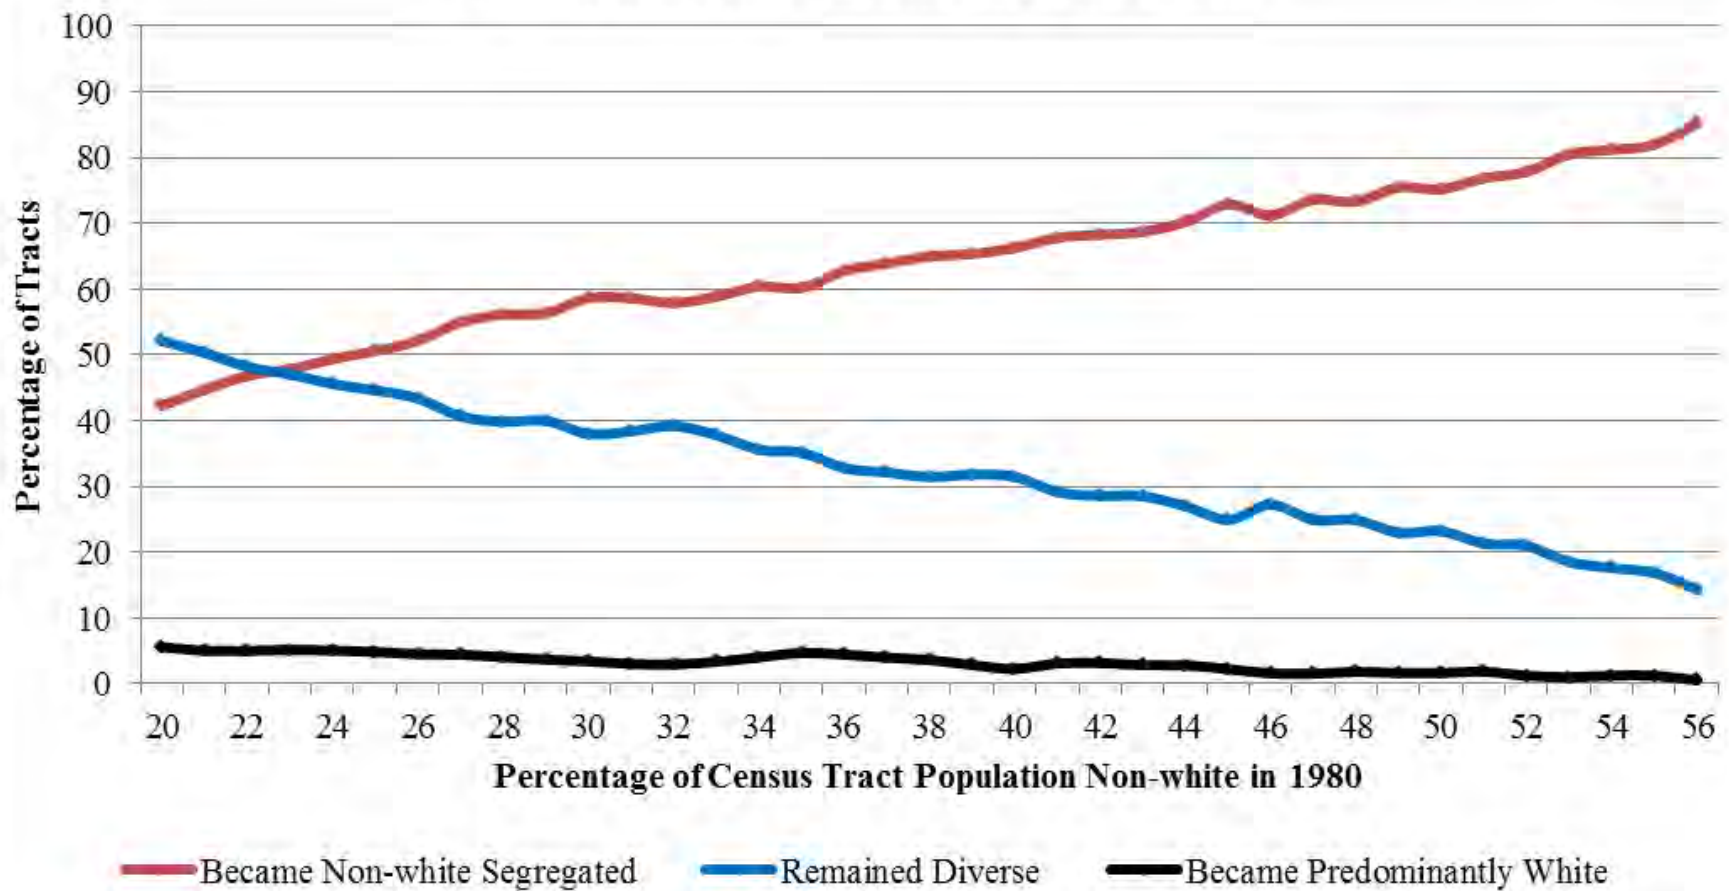

Policy Recommendations

- Pro-integrative strategies by other federal, state and local actors.
- Local stable integration plans
 - fair share ordinances
 - Pro-integrative home-loan or insurance programs
 - School stabilization programs
 - Community safety programs
 - Marketing/public relation efforts
- Civil Rights enforcement
- State and metro actions against exclusionary zoning practices
- Metropolitan school integration strategies
